Sacrifice on fuel, restore faith—Carter

(Editorial on Page 21)

"Let us commit ourselves together to a rebirth of the American spirit. Working together with our common faith, we cannot fail." President Jimmy Carter told the nation last night in urging individual financial, comfort and convenience sacrifices to jointly fight the energy crisis.

"Beginning this moment, this nation will never use more foreign oil than we did in 1977," the president said over national television in an address that followed ten days of conferences with citizens and with leaders of government, labor and business.

"Every new addition to our demand for energy will be met from our own production and our own conservation, the generation-long growth in our dependence on foreign oil will be stopped, and then reversed as we move to the 1980s.

"I am setting the further goal of cutting our dependence by one-half by the end of the next decade, a saving of over 4½ million barrels of imported oil per day.

"I will use my presidential authority to set import quotas," Mr. Carter related.

"I am asking for the most massive peacetime commitment of funds and resources in our nation's history to develop America's own alternative sources of fuel: from coal, from oil shale, from plant products for gasoline, from unconventional gas, from the sun.

"I propose the creation of an Energy Security Corporation to lead this effort, to replace 2½ million barrels of imported oil per day by 1980. The corporation will issue up to $5 billion of energy bonds.

"I'm asking Congress to require as a matter of law that our nation's utility companies cut their massive use of oil by 50 percent within the next decade and switch to other fuels, especially coal, our most abundant energy source.

"I will urge Congress to create an Energy Mobilization Board which, like the War Production Board in World War II, will have the responsibility and authority to cut through the red tape, the delays and the endless roadblocks to completing key energy projects.

"And I'm proposing a bold conservation program to involve every state, county and city, and every average American in our energy battle. This effort will permit you to build conservation into your homes, and your lives, at a cost you can afford.

NEW COIL HANDLING EQUIPMENT and a horsepower increase from 1,000 hp to 4,000 hp are major items in the modernization of Mill 4 at the Madison plant of Consolidated Aluminum Corporation. This picture gives a general view of the mill.

Rise in aluminum capacity here

Completion of a major modernization program has increased cold rolling capacity of Mill 4 by approximately 250 percent at the Madison plant of Consolidated Aluminum Corporation.

The mill rebuild was completed during the first part of 1978 by the Salem, Ohio, engineering and manufacturing facility of E. W. Bliss Division, Gulf-Western Manufacturing Company.

A mill management spokesman said the most important benefit resulting from the renovation is an increase in horsepower from 1,000 to 4,000 h.p.

The boost in horsepower has increased maximum mill speed from approximately 500 feet per minute (fpm) to more than 2,000 fpm.

The result is a significant increase in productivity, because the mill is capable of heavy gauge reductions at higher speeds, the spokesman added. Additional benefits have accrued, says management, for the addition of modern coil handling equipment and sophisticated control systems, which greatly extend the product range relative to gauge and width.

"A complete new roll coolant system, with roll balancing and contouring cylinder, has provided a marked improvement in strip shape.

Installation of new coil handling equipment for fast and uncomplicated threading—along with the latest in strip tensing devices—makes the rebuilt mill equal to a new one in its productivity and its ability to maintain gauge tolerances.

Since it was returned to operation in January, the mill has been rolling a wide range of aluminum alloys in widths of 30 to 60 inches, in gauges ranging from 0.250 to 0.010 inch.

Nominal coil size is 10,000 pounds, although the rebuilt mill has design capability for coils weighing as much as 15,000 pounds.

In rebuilding the mill, Bliss engineers retained the original 21-inch and 53x66-inch mill stands, including housings, separators, shoe plates, work rolls, and back-up rolls.

The renovation made use of new bearings for the work rolls, and modified bearings for the back-up rolls.

Virtually all other mill components—including the main mill drives, all electricals, the lube system, and the hydraulic system—are new.

Other new items include: expanding mandrel payoff and tension reels; entry and delivery end coil cars; edge guide control on the entry end; horizontal belt wrapper; complete coil conveying and sleeve handling systems; and a coil handling station on the delivery end.

Cutback in new Venice school budget

By VALERIE EVENDEN

at the Press-Record
The Venice Board of Education, in continuing its fight against mounting financial problems, Thursday night adopted a tentative budget of $1,767,780 to operate the Venice public schools in 1979-80, a decrease of 11.5 percent from

The total budget, down $180,363 from 1978-79, reflects the sum of $355,722 in Title I and Title VII funds which are reimbursable from federal and state sources.

In addition, the members gave approval to a $566,000 tentative budget for Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, the adult vocational school which is financed with federal and state funds, but administered by the Venice School Board.

The new public schools budget shows anticipated revenues next year of $1,578,073 in all funds, a deficit of $187,716 compared with estimated expenditures.

The overall deficit soars substantially, however, when debts from the 1978-79 year ended June 30, amounting to over $600,000, are included.

The Venice School District has extended $435,000 in anticipation warrants against tax collections, and has borrowed $133,880 from the building fund, all of which must be repaid from the new taxes.

Additionally, a further $33,000 was transferred from the transportation fund to the educational fund at Thursdays meeting to cover the Aug. 3 payroll. The amount includes a $5,000 insurance premium.

Expected revenue in the public schools' educational fund is $1,194,399, while estimated expenditures are $1,350,695, a deficit of $156,302.

County legal ruling backs Lucas

By GARY SCHNEIDER

at the Press-Record
Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Michael Thompson has issued a legal opinion warning the Madison County Special Sewer Committee that it may violate anti-trust statutes if it passes a tentative ordinance. The proposed ordinance would require that subdivision developers in the sewer area utilize an engineer and contractor "of the committee choosing" to design and install sanitary sewers.

In his legal opinion, Thompson said, "It is my understanding that the sewer committee is presently preparing an ordinance regulating and governing the hooking up of private sewers or ancillary sewer systems onto the main county sewer project.

"I do not have a copy of the proposed ordinance before me, but I have been informed that it requires subdividers wishing to hook onto the system to use only a particular engineering firm and a particular construction firm specified by the sewer committee.

"There have been some recent cases...holding that local governments, and possibly individual officials, can be subject to the federal anti-trust laws, with their provisions for treble damages, a attorney's fees and criminal penalties.

"Also, Illinois has passed anti-trust legislation...similar to the federal provisions, and (the law) provides that the Illinois courts, when dealing with an Illinois anti-trust statute similar to the federal statutes, shall follow the construction given to the federal law by the federal courts."

In the opinion, addressed to Harry Hartman, attorney for the sewer committee, Thompson also warned, "I am gravely concerned that if, in fact, there is to be a provision in the ordinance requiring the use of firms specified by the county, the county and its officers could be subject to anti-trust prosecution for unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce.

"I also question whether or not such a

Mr. Lindley would have celebrated his 90th birthday July 23. He was born in a barn near Greenville, Ill., and lived in this area during several periods of his life.

Relics of ancient tool industry found

It might surprise some folks in Saline County to hear that the area's industrial roots have been traced back hundreds, maybe thousands, of years. But it's true.

Evidence uncovered by a team of archaeologists working at a site near the south fork of the Saline River points to the long ago existence of a busy bone tool industry thereabouts.

Researchers from SIUC's Center for Archaeological Investigations are still attempting to date the industry, but other artifacts—uncovered on the 150-acre site owned by Peabody Coal Co. go back to 8,000 B.C.

Richard W. Jefferies, associate director of the SIUC project, says, "The bone tool industry is just one of a number of interesting features in the area we're excavating."

"We've discovered 200 man-made structures—things like storage pits, fireplaces and trash pits—in addition to more than a million artifacts and remains that will be transported back to our laboratories for identification and analysis."

Eventually, most of those bits and pieces will be fitted together like so many parts of a giant jigsaw puzzle that will help scientists obtain an accurate picture of life in Southern Illinois over the last 10,000 or so years.

The Carrier Mills site, which will be surface mined eventually by the Peabody Coal Co., has produced a rich yield of archaeological materials.

Jefferies comments, "We really don't know that much about the pre-historic of this part of Illinois."

"But we've found a good deal more than we'd expected, and that's due largely to excellent soil conditions at the site."

"Soil conditions at the Carrier Mills site are conducive to preservation of animal and human bones and other artifacts."

"The calcium in the soil tends to replace the calcium leached from bone matter by ground water. By analyzing bone materials, we can gain an insight into such things as the inhabitants' diets and environmental conditions in the area during their lifetimes."

"We should be finished excavating around late August. Then, after several months of laboratory analysis by scientists here and at other universities, we'll attempt to reconstruct a profile of life over the ages in the area."

"That profile should give Southern Illinoisans the most accurate and complete picture of the development of their land and the people who have inhabited it over the ages."

2nd master degree

major being offered

Under a newly approved plan, persons who hold a master's degree in Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are eligible to return to the Graduate School to complete a second graduate major at the master's level.

Joseph A. Lindsay, dean of Graduate Studies and Research, said the new plan is intended to provide educational opportunities for those who wish to expand their learning or to broaden career possibilities.

A student enrolling under this arrangement is expected to complete only two-thirds of the number of hours required for a degree in the major elected.

The student must also complete any other requirements prescribed by the department administering the major program and final examination required by the Graduate School.

The second major will be added to the student's permanent record when completed, enabling the graduate to show transcript evidence of the achievement when applying for employment or advancement. Underlying this new plan is the understanding that employed individuals often need supplemental studies in order to upgrade their skills or change careers, Dean Lindsay said.

Rapid technological and social changes force employees to keep pace, she added.

She pointed out that it is a major responsibility of the Graduate School to provide flexible programming that can enable its graduates to augment their skills and receive credit for their efforts.

The Graduate School also provides an arrangement whereby currently enrolled graduate students may combine programs and thus prepare themselves concurrently in related fields.

Persons interested in applying to the Graduate School for a second major are to file an application with the Graduate Admissions program and final examination required by the Graduate School.

The second major will be added to the student's permanent record when completed, enabling the graduate to show transcript evidence of the achievement when applying for employment or advancement. Underlying this new plan is the understanding that

Survey of rural historic places

The Illinois Rural Survey began in St. Clair County on July 9 and in Madison County on July 10, according to Susan Hart (329-2281), coordinator. A team of two surveyors will be in each area for two months, photographing and recording the locations of historic structures. St. Clair, Madison and Monroe counties will be surveyed this summer in a pilot study of such structures.

Farmsteads, houses, public and commercial buildings and other features of the cultural landscape—such as bridges and fences—will be recorded in the survey, which is confined to small towns (population under 500) and rural areas of Illinois, areas not covered by the Illinois Historic Structures Survey.

Purpose of the survey, a project of the Division of Historic Sites of the Illinois Department of Conservation, is to identify buildings and other structures with cultural character of the community. "These structures deserve consideration in the local planning process. In addition, some may meet criteria for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places. The survey will also provide information for scholars interested in Illinois history and culture," the coordinator said.

"Surveyors will photograph the buildings from the road and will fill out a form on each structure. It will not be necessary for them to contact each property owner individually. Surveyors will carry letters of identification from the Department of Conservation."

Oppose added school bus cost

The Illinois Association of School Boards (IASB) on Friday urged Governor James Thompson to veto a bill that would require all local school districts to provide free transportation for private school students.

"Many school districts already transport pupils to private and parochial schools within district boundaries," according to Jonathan S. Howe, IASB president.

"The legislature has now passed Senate Bill 101 that requires each district to provide transportation to 10 miles beyond district boundaries."

In a letter to Thompson, Howe said some districts would have to provide buses to many as 20 or 30 private schools located within the 10-mile limit, driving up costs to Illinois taxpayers by as much as $40 million a year.

"Implementation of the bill would directly benefit nonpublic education at the expense of taxpayer services," Howe wrote. "The state has been unable to meet its obligations in paying for existing services in recent years, leaving many districts with large deficits in their transportation funds."

"Adding this new cost would be folly," he concluded. Howe is a school board member in Northbrook. The IASB represents 930 school boards.

Simon says 'Fight inflation, cut spending, grow 'victory gardens'

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record

Washington Bureau
If you think living with inflation is tough today, think what it could mean in the future to the child born in 1999, even if things get better.

Cong. Paul Simon, chairman of the House Budget Committee's Inflation Task Force, provides some thought-provoking statistics on what would happen to prices if the rate of inflation is slowed to only seven percent a year. "If we were at seven percent, we would think we are in great shape," Simon said. "And yet seven percent is intolerable."

A seven percent rate would mean a doubling of prices in 10 years, quadrupling in 20 years and an eight-fold increase in 30 years, Simon said. "We would be close to a doubling of prices in 10 years, quadrupling in 20 years and an eight-fold increase in 30 years," Simon said.

Using Simon's statistics on the effect of a seven percent inflation rate, one can go a step further and estimate the cost future for today's newborn.

When that child reaches his or her birthday in 1989, a jazzy 10-speed bicycle costing about $100 today would go for $200.

By the time that infant is 20, a compact, "economy" car selling today for $4,000 would cost $16,000.

When today's toddler is 30 and shopping for new home, today's $60,000 one-family brick residence could go for nearly a half-million dollars.

Those gloomy projections are based on the optimistic hope that today's inflation rate could be cut roughly in half.

That would mean a drastic reversal in directions. Since 1973, the inflation rate has been averaging eight percent a year.

In 1978, the rate was 9.2 percent. So far in 1979, it is flat—as measured by the Consumer Price Index—has averaged 13 percent.

That is a far cry from the "good old days" of 1955 to 1965 when the inflation rate averaged 1.6 percent a year.

But those are goals that will not be achieved without Congress and the White House and sacrifice by the American people.

"To the extent that we can control inflation, we can control the rate of interest," Simon said.

The BAC-Granite City evening session has scheduled seven general studies (non-transferable) classes to start the week of Aug. 20.

They include perennial favorites such as genealogy and upholstery, cake decoration and oil painting, but also scheduled are some courses of merit to people employed in specific areas.

EMT (emergency medical technician) classes will be taught for four weeks and foodservice sanitation (an eight-week course) will begin in the week of Aug. 20.

seek comfortable, easy answers to the inflation problem, to that extent we are in great shape," Simon said. "And yet seven percent is intolerable."

Simon, in a draft report of recommendations to be considered by his committee, suggest a variety of steps and constraints that may not be easy to swallow.

There should be no tax cuts until the federal budget is balanced, he suggests. "The nation would have been much better served had the last tax cut gone into reducing the deficit," Simon said. "We would be close to a doubling of prices in 10 years, quadrupling in 20 years and an eight-fold increase in 30 years," Simon said.

When taxes are cut, the nation should be designed to provide incentives for thrift and provide capital to increase productivity through such steps as increasing dividend exemptions and the accelerated depreciation write-off.

The president and the Federal Reserve Board should retain their credit allocation powers, using credit controls selectively to cool off overheated sections of the economy, Simon said.

In Simon's "game plan," the Federal Reserve Board should consider, from time to time, asking savings institutions to all ghtly restrict credit.

While he does not advocate imposing mandatory wage and price controls now, he suggests they might be necessary in the future for short periods and adds, "They served the nation well" during World War II and the Korean War. Federal agencies which regulate rates should, for the most part, confine those rates to increases to actual inflation costs or less, he believes.

Simon's list of 29 measures also calls for states to do their part by financing projects without issuing bonds.

Simon's bonded debt is as much a deficit as the federal deficit, though most states do not count it as a deficit, Simon said.

Reminiscence of World War II "victory gardens," Simon suggests individuals could contribute by planting gardens.

This would reduce prices, increase nutritional intake and give people a sense that they were doing something personally to fight inflation," Simon said.

Every little bit helps, particularly when the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that a family of four, with two elementary school children, spent from $47.70 to $83.40 for a week's supply of groceries in May.

In the longer term, Simon says, the government-guaranteed jobs.

Defense costs should be trimmed either through some joint agreement with the Soviets (beyond SALT II) or persuading allies to share a larger share of the financial burden, he suggests.

By Simon's reckoning, if inflation is not checked, the secretary of the public's rating of Congress and the president are right, that substantial erosion already is taking place.

Daytime college schedules mailed

Schedules of daytime classes offered by Washington School this fall by Belleville Area College have arrived in homes in this region.

A subsequent schedule, containing all Granite City courses, day and evening, as well as all classes offered by the college in its 2,000-square-mile district, will be delivered, to all homes beginning July 25.

The schedules will be placed in the mails on July 23 and should take no longer than a week to be delivered.

Any resident who has not received a schedule by Aug. 1 may call the college or the Granite City evening office (876-7570) and ask that one be mailed.

LEWIS L. LINDLEY
Editor-Manager

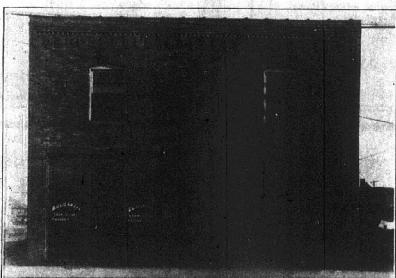

The Press Record Publishing Company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois in April, 1917, with the following stockholders, Wm. J. Lynch, Elmer McNary, Charles A. Uzzell and John B. Judd, after having existed as a partnership concern for several years.

A short time after the incorporation of the company, Messrs Uzzell, Judd and Lynch disposed of their interests to Mr. McNary, and in 1920 he sold the Press Record and the connecting commercial printing business to the present owners, Harry Faulkner, Kate Faulkner, Lewis L. Lindley and Edith F. Lindley.

Mr. Lindley had been employed by the old company as editor and general manager and he has continued in the same capacity since becoming part owner of the business.

GRANITE CITY HAS ONLY BULGARIAN DAILY NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED IN AMERICA

"Newspaper Row" in Granite City is augmented by The Nardonen Glas, which, interpreted into English, means National Herald, and through the publication of this paper, Granite City bears the distinction of possessing the only Bulgarian daily newspaper published in America today. The publication is the property of the Nardonen Glas Publishing Company, Incorporated. Vasil Stephanoff is president and general manager, and Vasil Grammatieff is secretary-treasurer.

The company owns a two-story building located at 1912-14 D street, Granite City, where, in addition to publishing the Nardonen Glas, they have an up-to-date book store, featuring books, publications and literature printed in foreign languages. They have a good job department, and the plant is equipped with a Duplex press, linotypes and plenty of type and other equipment.

The Nardonen Glas was established in 1915. It has a very large national circulation, and hundreds of copies are mailed daily to foreign countries. Locally, the newspaper fills a most important position, being of great value to local merchants in taking to the large numbers of Bulgarians in the Tri-Cities and elsewhere their advertising messages, and also in conveying to these people the editorial news of the day in their own language. It is printed entirely in Bulgarian, with the exception of display lines and advertisements, and other copy which frequently is printed in the English language.

Both Mr. Stephanoff and Mr. Grammatieff are active in the civic affairs of the community, being of especial value in development of a high standard of living, economical citizenship and education of foreign-born residents hereabouts. Each is a thoroughly educated, trained newspaper man and patriotic citizen of the United States, and interpretation of their editorials and news matter of integrity and laudable enterprise upon their part. Never flamboyant or inclined to radicalism, the Nardonen Glas is,

E. Hartung, Frank Henry; Press Dept., Roscoe Crosser, Adolph Jecmen and Norman Farr. The fifty newboys were in school when this picture was taken.

Harry Faulkner, president of the Press Record Publishing Co., is a lawyer, with offices on Niedringhaus Avenue. Under the new ownership many changes have been made, every cent of the earnings of the newspaper and printing plant being put back into the business in order to give Granite City and vicinity a better newspaper.

Practically all of the old equipment has been scrapped during the past four years and the printing office is now a model of modern efficiency, being equipped with two linotypes, Miller saw trimmer and router, mat cutter, three job printing presses, two of them equipped with Automatic feeders, an Optima number five cylinder press, Duplex eight page newspaper press.

MISS LIDA COTTER

The new company has purchased the building the printing plant occupies and have made many improvements in it, one being the erection of an addition to the press room which runs clear to the alley line and takes care of the new equipment for that department.

The office has been remodeled and enlarged, a system of hot and cold water installed and sanitary steel lockers erected for the use of the employees of the composing and press rooms.

The paper will speak for itself. The circulation has increased from about 900 in 1916 to over 4,300 at the present time and the circulation is increasing each week. The size of the paper has been increased from four pages to eight and sixteen each issue, while the scope of the news handled, now covers all of the home news of the tri-cities and the important events and court happenings of the entire county.

Fiction, in both short story and serial form and special articles that are of interest, are some of the big features that are building up the paper.

The increase in circulation and the cut illustration service furnished advertisers, the Press Record office being subscribers to both the Bonnet Brown Sales Service and Meyer Roth Service, has built up the greatest volume of advertising ever carried in a Tri-City newspaper.

The Press Record office now has all of the equipment necessary, with the exception of adding another linotype machine, for the balance of a daily newspaper, a move which will be made whenever the local field becomes strong enough to give a daily paper the needed support.

In addition to Mr. Lindley, the editor, who writes Town Topics and does other odd jobs around the office, the personnel of the office is as follows: Leo Marx, reporter; Edwin Backs, advertising solicitor; Miss Lida Cotter, private secretary and stenographer; Miss Dorothy Kuebler, bookkeeper and cashier; Miss Maude Cotter and Miss Ethel Kuebler, file clerks and office assistants. Mrs. Blanche Walker and Miss Willie Pay handle the Granite City social news items; Mrs. Eva Dron is the Madison correspondent and Miss Alice Durer looks after the news from Venice.

An efficient force of printers under the direction of Louis (Bob) Hartung take care of the work in the composing room while the press room end of the job is under the care of Adolph Jecmen. A force of about fifty newboys take care of the distribution and street sales of the paper.

THE GRANITE CITY POST

The Granite City Post, published on Monday and Thursday, is an independent Republican newspaper of Granite City, established in 1916, by J. W. Cassidy, who is editor and publisher. The paper is equipped to handle up-to-date job printing of all kinds in addition to the newspaper, and is rated as one of the progressive publications of Southern Illinois.

The paper first was located at 1835 D street, where its headquarters were until two years ago, when the present building was erected and occupied. The plant is located now at 1829 D street, in a building owned by the publisher, and which will in the future be enlarged in order to facilitate the addition of new equipment and larger resources for work of all kinds.

Independent in its editorial policy, the Post has always adhered strictly to a policy of progressive enterprises for the city, and has readily and gladly recognized every movement that has to do with forward work and development, not only in Granite City but throughout the entire district and state.

The Post has a general circulation throughout the Tri-Cities and in the rural districts, covering the field for local advertisers exclusively, thus materially assisting in the concerted effort being made by Granite City merchants to forestall as much out of town trading as possible. It is liberally patronized, by local merchants, and its news columns have always been found interesting and replete with features both in the advertising and news columns. The Auto-caster and Advert advertising service is used extensively.

Members of the working force of the Post include J. L. Tempo, foreman of the composing rooms; Harry W. Brant, president; Mr. Stela Habert, linotype operator; W. H. Chambers, compositor.

J. W. Cassidy, editor and publisher, is assisted in the business offices by C. N. Alliger, advertising manager and associate editor, and Josephine E. Tucker, bookkeeper.

Eleven carrier boys distribute the Post in the tri-cities, and a large percentage of the papers are mailed to rural routes and surrounding cities.

on the other hand, a publication that has won for itself and the publishers the praise of not only local leaders but national officers and business men and women, and has always been one of the progressive boosters for a bigger, better Granite City, of which it is an active, interested part, and which as such is enjoying a growth and recognition it deserves.

provision would satisfy equal protection requirements. I would appreciate receiving your comment on the feeling on this matter," Thompson told Hartman.

The proposed ordinance was presented to the sewer committee members June 27, and the committee has not acted upon it.

A letter from Hartman to committee chairman Louis Whitsell indicates that the proposed ordinance was prepared by the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab engineering and consulting firm of Granite City.

In his response after reviewing the draft copy, Hartman told the committee he questioned whether the process of having a county-appointed engineer design subdivision sewers—and then selecting a contractor through a bidding process—would be workable. He indicated he feared contractors "might die a slow death," during the process, particularly since all actions require approval by the county board and that board meets only once a month.

The issue has been brought to light by Stanley Lucas, a developer, who is seeking county approval of an application he wants to submit to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to get approval to put sanitary sewers in the Town and Country East Sixth Addition.

Lucas has contended the committee has been "stalling" on his request for approval of the application, noting he has used another engineering firm to design the sewers and plans to have a contractor of his selection to put them in.

Hartman has said that the lack of an ordinance controlling sewer development in subdivisions has "left a void" in which committee members do not have any guidelines to determine whether applications should be approved or denied.

Hartman also said Lucas' latest application is different from previous applications, since Lucas plans to link the Town & Country East sewers into Granite City municipal sewers until the county sewers are completed and then switch the outlet into the county sewers. "That brings up a whole raft of questions," Hartman said.

Lucas has contended that the county was trying to force him to have Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab do the engineering work, even though he says the work already has been done by M.B. Corlew Associates of Edwardsville.

Lawsuits alleging interference with development by the sewer committee and the Mitchell Public Water District have been filed by Lucas, president of Semco Corp., in Madison County Circuit Court.

One suit against Madison County asks for a writ of mandamus to force county officials to sign Lucas' EPA application. Another suit against the water district seeks a similar mandamus for signatures on a water application to the EPA.

The third suit asks the court for a judgment declaring that the water district's resolution authorizing use of the district's engineer be held invalid.

At last week's meeting of the sewer committee, Thompson's opinion on the selection of an engineer by the sewer committee was read and Lucas said he was assured his request for signing of the EPA application will be brought before the Madison County Board by the sewer committee this Wednesday.

Lucas based his appeal to the committee on a legal opinion Hartman gave the committee July 10 in which Hartman said, "It is my opinion that the sanitary sewer committee has no duty or authority to take any action on any application for proposed sewage systems at the present time which are intended to be connected to the county system."

working cash fund amount to $9,445, while revenue in that fund is estimated at $200,445, a $200,000 plus mark.

The total budget for Venice public schools in 1979 amounted to $1,840,226, including $287,605 in Title I and Title VII funds.

It reflected a one percent decrease from the previous year.

The Venice-Lincoln Technical Center budget for the 1980 fiscal year, totaling $566,000, shows $424,669 expenditures in the educational fund; $80,365 in the building fund; $23,040 in transportation; $35,170 in the retirement fund; and $27,120 in an indirect cost contingency fund.

Lucas based his appeal to the committee on a legal opinion Hartman gave the committee July 10 in which Hartman said, "It is my opinion that the sanitary sewer committee has no duty or authority to take any action on any application for proposed sewage systems at the present time which are intended to be connected to the county system."

"Along with this opinion, I point out that the county has not adopted any ordinance providing for administration and operation of the system now under construction, as yet."

"In view of the foregoing, it is my opinion that the applications... can only be passed upon by the normal county procedures, which I believe would be governed by the provisions of the Madison County subdivision regulation."

Lucas added, "Semco Corp. asks the sewer committee to accept, once again, the legal opinion of its attorney and to introduce the application for an EPA permit for Town and Country East Sixth Addition, to the next and earliest meeting of the county board for the signature of the proper authority."

"It is regrettable that this impasse has occurred. The sewer committee has seemed to be unable to separate two major facets of the situation—the EPA application, and the proposed, but not yet accepted, resolution of the sewer committee that the engineering and development work in subdivisions be done by sewer committee-designated persons."

"The two items are mutually exclusive and should have been treated as such during this long, drawn-out process," Lucas concluded.

Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab believes the sewer committee must select the engineer and contractor to install sewers in subdivisions since Madison County will own the sewers and be responsible for maintaining them once the subdivisions are completed.

He was sole owner of Acorn Press through 1975, when he sold it and retired.

Bi-State hires Houghton; Wilson bus system manager

In a major organizational change in the administrative structure of the Bi-State Development Agency, the Bi-State board of commissioners on Friday selected Charles G. Houghton as executive director and William J. Wilson as general manager of transit, effective Aug. 1.

The transit general manager position is newly created, as is a second position, general manager of development and administration, which is yet to be filled. Both new positions will report to the executive director.

The increasing complexity in operating the multifaceted Bi-State Development Agency and the need to focus more attention on operation of the bus company were cited as the driving forces behind the reorganization.

Bi-State operates a 160 route bus transportation system in the St. Louis metropolitan area. The agency employs 2,250 persons, with 800 buses operating during peak hours.

It also owns and operated the Bi-State Park general aviation airport in Cahokia, Ill., operates the transportation system in the St. Louis Gateway Arch, and serves as regional coordinator for the Port of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Under the reorganization, the bus system will be managed by Wilson. Airport, port coordination, arch transportation system, trash-to-energy, and general development projects will be managed by the general manager of development and administration, once appointed.

The executive director will coordinate the overall operation of the agency.

"The reorganization should allow, for the first time, full development of the powers granted Bi-State under its 1949 charter," a spokesman said.

Houghton at present is director of civic development for the Regional Commerce and Growth Association. He succeeds Barry M. Locke, who resigned from Bi-State last December to become secretary of transportation for Massachusetts.

John G. Brawley has been acting executive director during the search period, and will continue in that capacity through July 31.

Wilson comes to the transit general manager position from his present job as director, Department of Streets, City of St. Louis.

Houghton, with a management background both in the private and public sectors, has experience at the local and national levels.

Louis in 1963, before beginning a 28-month tour of duty in 1967. For six and a half years, Houghton was a administrative assistant, speech writer and campaign manager for Congressman James W. Symington.

In April 1977, he assumed his current position, which seeks involvement by RCGA to enhance the quality of life in the region, and to attract more businesses, residents and tourists. His other responsibilities include overall organizational policy, service to membership, and government relations.

Wilson, with a background in transportation, traffic, street maintenance, construction, engineering and management consulting services, grew up in the Kansas City area.

A chemical engineering graduate of the University of Kansas, he served two years with the Army. For the next 17 years, he worked in various line management jobs in the chemical industry before becoming St. Louis director of streets in 1973.

As street director, he managed divisions of street maintenance and construction, traffic and transportation, and refuse collection and disposal.

He was inaugurated and managed the city's first port authority, served as a member of the mayor's cabinet on administrative boards and commissions, and participated on committees and task forces of other public and civic organizations, including the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, RCGA and Downtown St. Louis.

Gerald A. Rimmel, a commissioner from St. Louis County, was elected as Bi-State board chairman. He succeeds Roy J. Ray of Illinois.

Every act of energy conservation like this is more than just common sense. It is an act of patriotism."

"I ask Congress to give me authority for mandatory conservation and for standby gasoline rationing. I'm proposing an extra $10 billion over the next decade to strengthen our public transportation system."

"Take no unnecessary trips, use carpools or public transportation whenever you can, park your car one extra day per week, obey the speed limit, and set your thermostats to save fuel."

"Every act of energy conservation like this is more than just common sense. It is an act of patriotism."

"THE INNOCENT" (R and subtitled) — This is the final work of the late Italian director, Luchino Visconti.

It shows lush living, always stunningly photographed and usually numbingly paced. The audience feels envy, not anger, at the people living such idyllic lives. However, the editing also bears the Visconti stamp — abrupt, jarring, and at times so much unanswered that the significance of the preceding scene is diminished or lost. The story is about an aristocratic, woman-chasing Italian husband who ignores his sweet wife and romances a divorced countess. Meanwhile, the sweet wife finds that she is attractive to other men, so she has a few, getting pregnant by one of them. That infuriates the husband, who tries to woo his wife back and promises to love the bastard child as his own, after he fails to get his wife to abort it. She will submit to anything to have the infant, and he will do anything in his destructive, warped way to destroy it. To sum up, the photography is terrific, the acting often unmoving. It is a good, boring movie.

Knowing Gavilsky was not at home, Chief Bridick radioed for a backup police car and then went into the house, where he saw a man going through a drawer with the aid of a pen light.

A 27 year old Granite City man and two juveniles were then placed under arrest by Bridick.

Police found a turntable and ear phones in the back yard of Gavilsky's home.

The youths were turned over to juvenile authorities and the adult is to be charged with trespassing and suspected burglary.

During the previous evening (Thursday), Officer Gavilsky's home was burglarized and police articles including weapons were taken.

Venice school district election on Saturday

Venice voters will go to the polls Saturday to determine whether textbooks in the public schools will remain free of charge to students or if nominal fees may be levied in the future to partially offset rising costs and help reduce the district's financial plight.

At Thursday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education, members accepted a recommendation from the Purchasing and Finance Committee concerning proposed textbook fees.

The recommended fee schedule sets amounts not to exceed $8 per year for special education and kindergarten pupils; $12 per year for grades 1 through 4; and $16 per year for students in high school.

Action to formally adopt the proposed fees was delayed until after voters indicate approval of the measure in Saturday's referendum.

Two polling places will be open Saturday from noon until 7 p.m. Precinct One polls will be located in the Venice High School gymnasium, 740 Broadway, Venice.

Precinct Two voters will cast ballots at the Eagle Park Improvement Association building, 100 Hill St., Eagle Park.

Judges appointed to serve in the election are: Precinct One—Tom Maher, Rosemarie Cooper and Essie Motten; and Precinct Two—Bernice Jones, Laine Gardner and Elaine Mosby.

The Venice School Board has discussed eliminating free textbooks in the schools on several occasions, noting that most school districts in this region have book fees, some exceeding $20 annually for high school students.

A survey was made by the committee members, Larry Boyd, James Turner and Earl Hogan, prior to the proposed fees being recommended to the board. Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

He noted, however, that even if the referendum does receive voter approval Saturday and the fees are instituted in the coming school year, the revenue produced will be about half the actual cost of textbooks purchased for the use of students.

In the 1978-79 school year, a total of $14,206 was expended on textbooks.

Based on last year's pupil enrollment, about $8,000 would be produced from the book fees. And the cost of textbooks is expected to increase next year, the administrator added.

Camping your way through Illinois

(Outdoor Highlights)

If inflation has taken the starch out of your vacation plans, why not plan on seeing the U.S.A. a little closer to home this year?

One way to spend an Illinois vacation without spending a lot of cash is to camp your way around the state. (Can 60 million Americans be wrong?)

Whether it's the metropolises of Chicago or the rolling hills of northwest Illinois, western Illinois' Spoon River country and its ethnic settlements, central Illinois' Lincoln country or Amish settlements, or the rolling Ozark hills and beautiful lakes of southern Illinois, you'll come away with a better appreciation of the state's historic and cultural heritage and beautiful scenery.

There are more than 100 sites owned or managed by the department of Conservation to visit, not to mention the hundreds of city, county and private campgrounds, from which to choose when it's time to stop for the day.

Rates at state-operated campgrounds are $5 per night for grounds having modern buildings with showers, electrical outlets and vehicular access to sites; $4 for those having electricity and vehicular access; $2 for areas offering only vehicular access, and $1 for tent camping at primitive sites with no vehicular access.

Private campgrounds have varying rates, and offer a variety of services and facilities.

Your best bet is to plan your vacation ahead, checking for the services and facilities you want, and making your plans accordingly.

By planning ahead, you can be certain that the facilities and services you need are available at the sites you plan to visit, and the best way to plan ahead is by writing for the various brochures which might be of interest to you and your family.

The two best all-around guides for camping information are DOC's "Recreational Areas," a listing of all properties owned or managed by the Department of Conservation, plus the various facilities and activities available at each; and "Roughing It," a camping guide produced by the Division of Tourism, listing both state and private campground areas, as well as facilities, activities, and addresses to write for information.

Once you've decided on which part of the state you'd like to visit, you probably should write the Division of Tourism for one of its brochures, most of which feature northwest Illinois, Chicago and the Chicago area, central Illinois, southeast Illinois or southern Illinois.

The Department of Conservation has individual brochures for most of its recreation areas, as well as publications which feature canoeing areas, trails, sites with interpretive programs, nature preserves, "Heritage Days" programs, a booklet-calendar listing preservation activities and a booklet listing a calendar of events slated for the summer months throughout the state. And should you decide that seeing Illinois would make for a wonderful vacation, but that camping isn't your cup of tea, you may wish to write for the Division of Tourism's "Illinois Hotel-Motel Directory," a booklet listing major inns and the cost of a night's lodging.

There's plenty to do in Illinois, and you can start your vacation early by beginning your planning.

What is there to do in Illinois state parks and recreation areas besides camping, picnicking and fishing?

Plenty, if you're willing to try any of the trails found in almost all of the state parks, recreation areas and state forests, says Conservation Department Trail Specialist Glenn Wegener.

Though man's use of trails dates back to primitive times when first he stalked wild quarry along established game trails, then later used these routes as links between points in his migrations, most trails today are used for recreational pursuits.

And the variety of ways to enjoy trails on state properties covers an ever-widening range of activities, Wegener points out.

If you're a hiker, you'll find trails at more than 70 state sites.

Twenty-five sites have trails for horseback riding, and 20 have paths for cross country skiers.

Illinois' state parks, recreation areas, conservation areas, and other properties now provide trails for the hiker, snowmobiler, backpacker, walker, cyclist, the handicapped visitor, geology buff, history fan, nature-lover and even the canoeist.

In the past seven years, emphasis has been placed by the Department of Conservation on trails and trail-oriented activities as a result of rising public interest in that area, Wegener said.

Creation of the Youth Conservation Corps, in 1974, and the Illinois Young Adult Conservation Corps, a little over a year ago, helped the Department tremendously in achieving its trail renovation and construction objectives.

With the aid of YCC and IYACC, total trail mileage on DOC lands now is at an all-time high.

The Department's effort at trail and trail activity expansion are not without their problems, however.

Illinois' trail mileage and trail systems often have been compared unfavorably with those of other states, particularly Wisconsin, despite the fact that such comparisons are not valid, Wegener said.

Wisconsin, for instance, has much more land available for trail use; 15 percent of its land is in public ownership, compared to only three percent of Illinois.

Of the remaining 97 percent of Illinois' acreage, 80 percent is in cropland, which is not conducive to trail activities.

Furthermore, Illinois is not greatly endowed with scenic lands in public ownership.

The Department's thrust in expansion of trail activities and mileage has been concentrated on its own lands.

Where possible, linkage of trails between DOC and other land-owning agencies has been sought, Wegener said. Some of the types of trails and where the list they can be found are as follows:

HIKING

While the list of state sites offering hiking trails is too lengthy to include, a few of the most scenic and longest trails are:

Starved Rock — 12 miles, overlooking the Illinois River and winding through many scenic canyons.

Pere Marquette — 12 miles, traveling over rugged hills near the juncture of the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers.

Lake Le-Aqua-Na — 13.5 miles; Mississippi Palisades — 6.7 miles; Rock Cut — 10 miles.

Fox Ridge — 6 miles; Ferne Clyffe — 12 miles; Giant City — 16 miles; and Washington County Conservation Area — 14 miles.

BACKPACKING

Backpacking has been fairly limited at state sites. However, there are a number of such trails available. The newest, longest and one of the most scenic is the 16-mile Red Cedar Trail at Giant City State Park.

Primitive camping facilities are located at the eight-mile point. The last half of the trail travels through scenic areas never readily accessible to visitors in the past.

Other backpacking trails can be found at Ferne Clyffe (4 miles), Illinois-Michigan Canal (15 miles from Channahon to Morris, with primitive camping at Gehard Woods State Park), Mississippi Palisades (3 miles), and Pyramid State Park (10 miles, with rugged "mini-camp" sites alongside strip mine lakes).

Currently under construction is a new backpack trail at Shelbyville.

The IYACC is working on a 15-mile segment through Eagle Creek State Park which will be linked with a 15-20 mile portion planned for construction on lands managed by the Corps of Engineers.

When complete, the 30-40 mile trail will have three overnight camping sites.

INTERPRETIVE

There now are 15 interpretive or "nature" trails on state sites across Illinois. They are designed to be self-guiding and provide information through brochures or signs about specific features along their routes.

Seasoned or full-time interpreters are available at some of these sites to offer guided walks dealing with area history, geology, natural resources, birds, plants or other topics.

A complete list of interpretive trails is available in DOC's free "Trails in Illinois" guidebook.

SNOWMOBILING Snowmobiling on DOC lands has been limited to the northern third of the state because of its heavier annual snowfall.

Ten sites, providing 173 miles of trail and 2,300 acres of open "scramble" areas, were available to snowmobilers last winter.

They included Chain O'Lakes, Hennepin Canal, Illinois-Michigan Canal, Johnson-Sauk Trail, Kankakee River, Silver Springs, Mississippi Palisades and Rock Cut State Parks, Big River State Forest and Shabbona Lake Recreation Area.

As a result of the past three unusually harsh winters, which hit central and northern Illinois with almost equal severity, DOC's Trails Section now is studying areas in central Illinois as potential snowmobile sites in the future.

CROSS-COUNTRY SKIING

No trail activity has increased as dramatically as cross-country skiing in the past five years. In 1975, only 40 miles of trails were open for skis touring on Department lands; last winter, that figure was up to 300 miles.

A few of the more popular areas were Chain O'Lakes, Lake Le-Aqua-Na, Mississippi Palisades, Moraine Hills, Rock Cut and Jubilee College State Parks.

A complete list of cross-country skiing sites can be obtained for the DOC Trails Section.

If you own your own horse, there are 25 state areas providing a total of 360 miles of trails.

These sites have campgrounds especially for horsemen.

In the past two years, the department has upped equestrian trail mileage by 77 percent.

A few of the newer trails include: Big River State Forest (40 miles and campground), Chain O'Lakes (15 miles, double loop), Rock Cut (eight miles, campground), Pere Marquette (scenic 12-mile triple loop campground), under construction, and the only site with horse rental stable for riders who don't own their own horses.

Rented horses, however, must be kept on 3.5 mile trail, near the stable and Sam Parr State Park (13 miles).

Trails also can be found at Siloam Springs (18 miles, campground), Weinberg-King (15 miles, campground), Jubilee College (20 miles, campground), Mississippi Palisades (10 miles, campground), Lake Le-Aqua-Na (19 miles, campground), Hennepin Canal (34 miles), Giant City (15 miles, campground) and Chain O'Lakes (eight miles, campground).

Horse trails also will be developed in the near future in the newly created Middlefork area adjacent to Kickapoo State Park, Green River Conservation Area and Lee County and Kankakee River State Park.

A complete list of equestrian trails and facilities can be obtained from the DOC Trails Section.

CANOEING

A slack water canoeing "trail" with directional and other appropriate signs has been established at Sanganois Conservation Area.

Slack water canoeing routes also have been mapped at many other state parks and recreation areas, and two new "Trails" are being planned for Heron Pond-Little Black Slough Nature Preserve and along the Middlefork of the Vermilion River.

Best information source on canoeing is the "Illinois Canoeing Guide," available from DOC's Law Enforcement Division, 100 E. Washington St., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

It lists put-in and take-out points of trail and includes areas other than those adjacent to DOC lands.

TRAILS FOR THE HANDICAPPED

Seven state areas have specially-constructed trails for use by handicapped persons.

Dual purpose trails, for handicapped and non-handicapped, have been completed recently at Chain O'Lakes and Fox Ridge State Parks, along with wood-chipped trails for the blind. Tape recorders, purchased with donations from the local Lions Club, will be installed in the future at Fox Ridge's trail for the blind to provide interpretive programming for the users.

Kankakee River State Park has a hard-surface trail leading to picnic areas along the river, and a wood-chip trail for the blind to be equipped with tape recorders purchased by the Kankakee Lions Club — will be added in the near future.

AT Splitter Woods, hard surfacing has been added to Red Oak Rambler Trail to make it usable by persons in wheelchairs.

Giant City has a trail for blind persons and Rock Cut has a hard-surface trail for those in wheelchairs. Other trails for the han-

Billion for higher education in state

Governor James R. Thompson approved funding measures Thursday which raised the support for higher education in fiscal year 1980 (made in January to provide added dollars for education if they became available.

"The money I am approving for higher education," Thompson said, "is at a level we can afford and follows the commitment made in January to provide added dollars for education if they became available."

"Today, Illinois is meeting the needs of higher education by providing the first billion dollar base in the history of higher education in the state. In addition, we are making a modest increase in the percentage of all state funds earmarked for higher education from all the dollars available. This continues to reverse a seven-year decline in this percentage, which ended when the Thompson administration began."

The higher education package approved by the governor includes:

1. An increase of $91.2 million, or 9.6 percent, over estimated FY 1979 spending from all appropriated funds, to an FY 1980 total of $1,042,866,070.

2. Funds for average basic salary increases of seven percent for faculty and staff, a 15 percent increase in library expenditures, utility cost increases from 12 to 16.5 percent and a general increase of six percent for all other non-personnel areas.

3. An increase of $29.3 million, or 11.0 percent, for public universities over estimated FY 1979 spending, for a total of $69,554,783.

Included in funds appropriated to the University of Illinois is $2.6 million for expansion of the programs in the Division of Services for Crippled Children to provide medical treatment and counseling services to children. The expansion will insure that the same level of services will be provided to children in Chicago as are not provided in downstate areas, Thompson said.

4. An increase of $11.4 million, or 9.5 percent, for a total of $31,506,640.

5. A raise in the maximum scholarship award program from $1,650 to $1,800.

6. Inclusion of more than $50 million in Illinois State Scholarship Commission monetary awards for students attending private colleges and universities.

7. A total of $17.3 million for distribution to private institutions to support the education of Illinois residents in the health professions, up $3.2 million, or 22.9 percent, over the FY 1979 level.

Acted upon by Thompson were Senate bills 318, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 389, 392 and 952.

The governor used vetoes to reduce total appropriations by $8 million in three of the bills.

SB-318, cut $3.8 million from the $58.7 million appropriated by the General Assembly to bring the amount back to the budgeted level for the state's contribution to the University Retirement System.

SB-381, cut $200,000 from the $138 million appropriated to the Southern Illinois University.

And SB-542, cut $4 million from the $91.7 million appropriated to the Illinois Scholarship Commission.

John Ballentine, 36, of 204 Broadway, Venice, suffered cuts to his left upper arm and the left side of his face when he was struck by a broken bottle during a disturbance near the Long Branch Tavern, 21st Street and Grand Avenue, at 7:55 p.m. Thursday.

Robert Brazel, 26, of 203 Broadway, Venice, and Theodore Brazel, 22, of 2900 Saratoga Ave., have been charged with disorderly conduct in connection with the incident.

Ballentine said the Brazels are his brothers-in-law and the three of them had been together for some time when the fight broke out and he was struck by a broken bottle.

The cut to his left arm was sutured at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and he was released.

Car nearly hits boy; seek driver

Granite City police plan to question a man who allegedly attempted to drive his car over an 8-year-old boy on Kate Street near East 24th Street at 4:05 p.m. Thursday.

Witnesses said the car drove on the sidewalk from East 23rd Street to East 24th Street, carrying a young boy, to jump off his bicycle to avoid being struck.

The car, described as a small white car with a blue stripe down each side, then turned right on East 24th Street and left the scene.

A short time later, four living room windows of a nearby house were broken. Police said the two incidents appear to have been related.

A slack water canoeing "trail" with directional and other appropriate signs has been established at Sanganois Conservation Area.

Slack water canoeing routes also have been mapped at many other state parks and recreation areas, and two new "Trails" are being planned for Heron Pond-Little Black Slough Nature Preserve and along the Middlefork of the Vermilion River.

Lewis' blast keeps Tri-City Post 113 in first

Press-Record Sports

GRANITE CITY (Ill.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, July 16, 1979—11

By TOM SCHOCKER
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — One pitch is all you ever need. One pitch, one swing and the results of a ballgame could be turned around very rapidly. For first hand knowledge just ask Jim Lewis of Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball team. He hit a three-run home run Saturday to win his team's game.

In a masterfully pitched outing by Tri-City's Terry Lindsay, Post 113 won its twelfth league game against five defeats with a 3-0 stopper over Fairview Heights Saturday.

The win kept Tri-City in a first place tie with Alton in District 22's North Division. Each has a 12-5 record.

Granite City South Field and Tri-City go together like apple pie and ice cream. They seem to agree so much that Fairview could believe all the golden opportunities that slipped through its fingers. Lindsay allowed just six baserunners, only three hits, while striking out four as he carved up the Fairview line-up. The chances were there as Fairview put its lead-off man in all but two innings. Lindsay seemed to work magic as he pitched his way out of every jam to gain the shutout.

The farthest any Fairview baserunner advanced was third base, managing that only in the third inning. An error allowed catcher John Dosier to advance to second. He proceeded to go to third on an infield out. With thoughts of scoring a run Dosier stood at third, waiting for his teammates to send him home. Dosier ended up doing just that—standing and waiting as Lindsay work out of yet another problem.

In addition to his fine pitching performance, Lindsay sparked in the field with four attempts for outs including the final out of the game. He was helped by catcher Mark Linhart who threw out two baserunners attempting to steal second. The Tri-City infield also shone brightly as it gunned down any hopes for Fairview of Scoring a run.

Tri-City didn't have a tough pitcher to work against but in the early innings it looked that way. Its offense was sluggish at the onset of the game, managing only three hit in three innings, but the play of the entire game was to come. After a lead-off single to Blake Ambuehl in the fourth and a one out walk to Jeff Parker, Fairview's coach lifted his starting pitcher to prevent any further damage, trying to keep the shutout in tact. Much to the dismay of the Fairview Heights coach, Tri-City's designated hitter, Jim Lewis had other ideas. Relief pitcher John Boyle was ready to face the ultimate with his first delivery to the plate. Lewis jumped on the very first pitch and sent it crashing over the fence at the 360 mark in left-center.

Tri-City and Fairview had good reasons to work hard during the game. Tri-City was trying to keep atop of its division and Fairview was trying to make the playoffs in its division. The three-run homer provided the margin of victory for Post 113 moving them into sole possession of first place, a half a game lead over Edwardsville and a game lead over Alton. Edwardsville and Alton were both idle.

"We did the job," said Head Coach Kirk Champion after the game, "and that's all that counts. Even though Tri-City banged out nine hits, it also committed three errors. We were a little flat," said Champion, "but I was relatively pleased with the game." Champion said that it was good to see a big hit from someone who hasn't been known for it in the past.

Besides Lewis other hitting standouts in the game were Jeff Tretter, Mike DeGonia and Todd McFarland with two hits a piece. One of McFarland's hit was a ground rule double that just missed being a homerun. "With these bottom hitters getting into the offense," said Champion, "we now have everyone in the line-up moving the ball."

ROUNDING THIRD is Tri-City's Hondo Ambuehl, who scored from second on Saturday night during his team's 3-0 victory over Fairview Heights. Actually, Ambuehl didn't have to be in such a rush. Lewis' blast easily cleared the left field fence. Jeff Parker also scored on the homer. The win kept Tri-City Post 113 in a tie for first place in the American Legion District 22 North Division race with Alton.

Glen Carbon bats come olive, 9-1

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It was enough to make a season-long spectator wonder... what if?

What if Glen Carbon's American Legion baseball team had behaved as it did Saturday against Freeburg all season long?

The result of that game, a 9-1 win for Glen Carbon, was certainly impressive.

What if a team that was relaxed and comfortable after compiling a dismal record, now that the pressure's off goes out and plays like it hasn't in weeks?

Most observers expected more from Glen Carbon when the season began, having inherited a roster full of players fresh from a high school state championship tournament. But so what? Before the game, Glen Carbon was what you would call loose. The infield drill, supposedly a somber preparation for battle, was conducted with the seriousness of an Abbott and Costello movie.

It was pitcher-come third baseman Steve Doty drilling second and first basemen with warm-up throws that got a little too warm.

It was catcher Dick Awaft taking over for coach Bob Batey when Batey failed to deliver a suitable pop-up/Awaft's attempt at bat resulted in a fly to center.

And the game started.

While Glen Carbon's starting pitcher Keith Burton ran through Freeburg's line-up, Glen Carbon's hitters (they were hitters not just batters) laughed they're way around the bases.

Before the game you could see they were different. Art Jovi, Glen Carbon's coach said, "They were loose and joking with each other and then when the game started they just seem to explode. I guess it's just that the pressure is off now."

The Glen Carbon "explosion" began in the first. Jim Robinson, the lead-off man, reached on a walk. The next two batters hit fly-ball outs, then an error on a force out attempt allowed Robinson to reach second. From there, he scored on Awaft's single to center.

Through the third inning, Burton had allowed Freeburg only one hit. But in the bottom of the inning Glen Carbon broke loose.

Six, counted 'em, six runs. All on only one hit.

Mitchell surprises Music Room Vans 5-1

Fifty batters, wearing the blue Music Room uniform, stepped up to the plate (one at a time, of course), sent MAC back to their dugout to defeat the top-rated team in the Inter-City League yesterday. That's right, MAC upset Music Room 5-1 in the second half of the doubleheader.

Behind the superb arm of Doug Rains, MAC shut the Vans down to only four hits. Music Room was able to take Mitchell for 20 hits in the first game.

"I knew that we'd lose both games today," said MAC's player-coach Ken Crawford. "I had already chalked up two losses. Oh, well."

Legion division race

You'll need a slide-rule to figure it out

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Don't look now, but the North Division race in the American Legion 22nd District is red hot — as usual.

Early in the season, it didn't appear as if the perennial North Division drought would come about. Defending champion Tri City was falling by the wayside. The new power to be reckoned with was Glen Carbon. Also up at the top were Edwardsville and Alton.

But somewhere on the way to the Division title, Glen Carbon got lost. And Tri City found itself — just in time. Two weeks ago, Tri City caught fire and has now climbed into a tie for the division lead with Alton. Edwardsville is a half-game behind. But Glen Carbon is almost out of it, 4½ games out of first place.

The top four teams in each division claim a playoff spot. Three have been decided in the North. The championship could well be decided Tuesday night in Alton when Tri City — winners of six of its last seven league games — takes on the host club. But both teams have to win games, tonight (Monday).

Tri City is at Freeburg and Alton hosts pesky East St. Louis. If both win, the championship will go to the winner of the Tuesday game.

If Tri City loses at Freeburg and beats Alton, it will be 13-6. If Alton beats East St. Louis, and then falls to Tri City, it will be 12-7. If the two teams split their remaining two games and Edwardsville wins both if its contests, a three-way tie would result.

The Sporting Thing

If Tri City ends up in a two-way tie with Edwardsville, a coin-toss will be used to determine the division champion.

If you're wondering why all the fuss about the league title, it's because the home field advantage goes to the champion.

The fourth playoff spot appears to be going to Highland, 9-6. The Highland squad needs win only one of its remaining four games to clinch the berth. But all four games come in succession this week.

Glen Carbon is still mathematically alive, at 8-10 with one game left. If it wins its game and Highland drops all four of its contests, Glen Carbon will get the playoff spot.

"I'll tell you," said Tri City Manager Kirk Champion. "Three weeks ago, we were just hoping we could get a playoff spot. And at times, it didn't look too good."

"But here we are, trying for the home field advantage. It would be nice to get it, but going into the playoffs was the main objective."

In the South Division, the race for first place has been over for weeks, for all intents and purposes. Powerful Belleville is way out in front with a 17-1 record in league play. But there is a race for the remaining playoff spots.

Marissa has a spot clinched in the playoffs — but which one is not yet clear. It could be second or it could be third. It has a record of 10-4 with one game left. East St. Louis has an 8-9 mark with two games left — one at Alton tonight and one Tuesday at home against Freeburg.

The fourth spot could go to one of three teams; Freeburg, Cahokia and Fairview Heights. Freeburg and Cahokia play each other on a home-and-home basis tonight and Tuesday. Freeburg hosts Tri City tonight in addition to its Tuesday game at East St. Louis.

But don't go hunting for your slide rule or pocket calculator to try and figure all this out. Just wait until after the regular season ends Thursday and see who's playing who.

No matter, the post-season action will get underway Saturday, July 21 with divisional playoff games.

Meyers SIUE girls tennis coach

EDWARDSVILLE — Bob Meyers has been named women's tennis coach at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, it has been announced by Eldon Bigham, acting athletic director. Meyers succeeds Bob Gamble, who is now teaching in the East.

Meyers, a native of Hillsboro, who graduated from SIUE in 1971, has been active in teaching tennis since 1973. He served two years ('73 and '74) as pro at the St. Clair Indoor Tennis Club in Belleville. In 1975, he inaugurated a tennis program at Collinsville's Gaslight Bath and Tennis Club and stayed there four years. This year, he launched a new program at Edwardsville's Sunset Hills Country Club on the facility's four new courts.

Meyers received his master's degree at SIUE in 1973 in physical education, health and recreation.

He also has been teaching at SIUE and served as Bob Guelker's assistant when the veteran soccer coach was the Cougars' athletic director. Two years ago Bigham was named acting athletic director, and Meyers was assigned to full-time teaching.

With six letterwomen returning, Meyers is optimistic about the Cougars.

chances this coming season. "I'll have a chance to look over what we have returning. Then, I can make definite plans for the spring season," he said.

Returning are: Lillian Almeida, Pat Ziegenfuss, Christy Cone, Gina Stewart, Ruth Szymanski and Bunny Wall.

"I have a good bunch of prospects I'm hoping to recruit," Meyers added.

Meyers was a three-sport man at Hillsboro: he lettered four years in football as a fullback, played three years on the basketball team, and was a standout high-jumper for the Hilltoppers for three years.

Kristoff named Spartacade coach

EDWARDSVILLE — Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestling coach Larry Kristoff has been named the coach of the American wrestling team at the Spartacade Games in Moscow which began today (Monday) and will continue through July 22. The games will be shown in-part nightly on St. Louis station KPLR-TV channel 11.

Kristoff was an international world class wrestler while in college at SIU-Carbondale and served as the U.S. World Cup coach in 1976 and 1977. He was also an assistant coach of the American World Games in 1976 and 1979.

The Spartacade Games are a miniature version of the 1980 Olympic Games, which will also be held in Moscow. Spartacade has drawn entrants from 96 countries. However, all entering teams will be half as large as the would-be Olympic teams of next year.

Big Red tickets

ST. LOUIS — Over-the-counter ticket sales for upcoming St. Louis Football Cardinals home games began today.

The ticket office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday. Plenty of tickets remain for all games except the Dallas game, the season-opener Sept. 2. Only single seats remain for that one.

Mail-orders are no longer being accepted.

Tennis tourneys are scheduled

MURPHYSBORO — Two tennis tournaments will be held in Murphysboro next weekend. The Century Doubles Tournament for doubles teams whose combined ages equals at least 100 years will be held Saturday and Sunday at the old high school courts.

The entry fee is $6 per team. Those wanting further information may call Ted Bradley at 684-2731.

The Murphysboro Tennis Open for men's singles and doubles will be held at the same time at the courts adjacent to the new high school in Murphysboro. Entry fees are $3 for singles players and $4 per doubles team. Those wanting further information may contact Phil Strueter at 687-2836.

Horse show set

MT. VERNON — The World Championship Flag Race and World Championship Western Horse Show is scheduled for the Mount Vernon State Fair Grounds July 22.

Total prize money for the event will be $10,000.

The Flag Race is a speed event. It draws contestants from all over the United States, including some from the Quad Cities area.

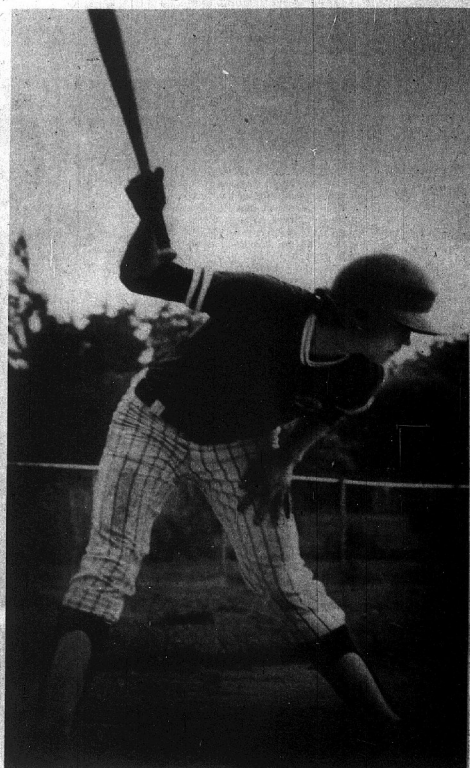

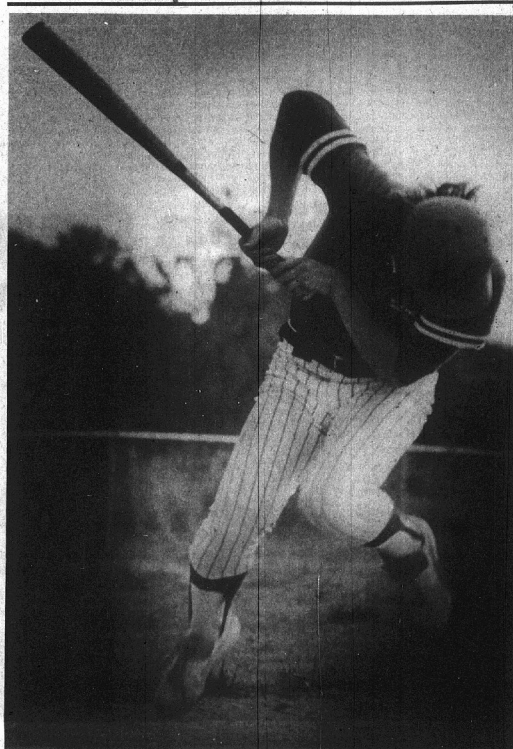

Horse show contestants will also share in the total cash purse.

Golf tourney

EDWARDSVILLE — The annual Bob Goalby Cystic Fibrosis Golf Tournament started today at the Sunset Hills Country Club here. Every foursome in the tournament contains one celebrity. Among the celebrities participating are Goalby, Jim Bakken, Jim Hart, Ken Boyer, Jack Buck, Ken Oberkell, Jay Randolph and others.

The North-siders' bats returned to normal

GRANITE CITY — Glen Carbon's American Legion baseball team finally got untracked here Saturday.

With a barrage of hitting, Glen Carbon lambasted Freeburg 9-1 at the Granite City North diamond, returning to the form which helped take it to first place in the District 22 North Division a mere three weeks ago.

But since that time, things haven't gone all that well for Glen Carbon, which is made up of players from GCHS North and one from Madison. The hitting stopped coming in like it had. The pitching too. There wasn't a "stopper."

But here Saturday, all that changed. The bats came alive again. Glen Carbon isn't dead yet in the race for a divisional playoff spot. But almost. It must win its only remaining game while Highland must lose all four of its games this week for Glen Carbon to make it.

'Darling' Carling returning to prep basketball scene

Special to the Press-Record
CENTRALIA — "Darling" Jeff Carling is back.

Carling, who was asked to resign two seasons ago from the head basketball coaching job at Centralia High, announced Saturday that he has accepted the head coaching job at tiny Kinmundy-Alma High School.

Area basketball fans will best remember Carling from his days as the head coach at St. Paul High School in Highland and his one year stint as assistant coach at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

The 30-year old flamboyant Carling has been the subject of controversy everywhere he has coached. His dismissal at Centralia stemmed from his unruly behavior on the bench. Many of his antics included intimidation of players, fans, as well as opposing players and coaches.

When Carling accepted the head coaching job at Centralia in 1974, he was faced with the job of trying to rebuild a once-mighty basketball program. He did — but in ways many thought unorthodox. Some of his gimmicks included midnight practices and his infamous "monkey-drill."

The "monkey-drill" was used when his team was taking the ball inbounds under its own basket. Three players would fall to the floor and turn somersaults, while the fourth took the ball inbounds and streaked toward the basket — usually unobstructed because the opposing team was too shocked at the antics on the floor to do anything about it.

Once at a pep rally, Carling shaved his head. His teams at Centralia — "Carling's Darlings" as they were known — compiled a three-year record of 55-23. While at St. Paul-Highland, Carling's teams ran up a 49-7 mark in two seasons.

"We did create a lot of interest in basketball at Centralia," said Carling. "Some of the technical fouls I got I wanted — others I wish I hadn't."

After stepping down from the basketball job at Centralia, Carling remained one year as an English teacher at the high school. This past year, he has held various jobs and is currently employed by a beer distributor in Centralia.

"I think I was sort of black-balled from coaching in Southern Illinois for a while," said Carling. "I've been staying on top of what has happened in basketball. This job came along at just the right time for me."

Carling said he has made some changes in his lifestyle, but that his major asset — working with kids — is still there.

Kinmundy-Alma has an enrollment of around 200 students and had a 3-20 record last season.

 "It's by far our most satisfying game," said Crawford. The team played one helluva better game in the second game. This will really help us out in future games.
 On seven hits, MAC tallied three additional runs than needed to put away the Vans, 5-1. They could have stopped after the second inning where they scored two enough to win.
 In that second inning, Kevin Hayes, walking with two outs and Jodi Falloni doubled to put two men on. Rains singled to score the two basemen.
 Music Room scored their single run in the fourth inning. Jim Brown walked and crossed the plate on Steve Carey's RBI double to left center, 2-1.
 One more run was added in the fourth to MAC's 5-1 lead. It was from a combined effort of Robertson and Hayes, who both singled, 3-1.
 To ice the cake, so to speak, MAC contributed two more runs to their cause. Bob "Rader" Rickert walked to lead off the sixth inning. Brian Sikes followed him with a base hit. Robertson brought both of them home with a double to left that he tried to stretch to a triple. Robertson was thrown out sliding into third, 5-1.
 The East Alton Indians travel to Mitchell next Sunday for a 1 p.m. double header. If MAC wins both games, it should be in fourth place. It is necessary to be at least in fourth place to play in the tournament.

EDWARDSVILLE

Two outstanding high school golfers have signed letters of intent to enroll this fall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

They are: Dave Kaercher, a graduate of St. Louis CBC High School, and Jay Elhausen of Edwardsville.

Harry Gallatin, SIUE varsity golf coach, made the announcement.

Kaercher has been the CHC Cadet No. 1 golfer the past two years. He has consistently finished in the top five in St. Louis district events, in Gateway PGA tournaments, and national qualifying rounds for junior golfers.

Elhausen has paced the Edwardsville High golf team for the past two years. He has posted the lowest 18-hole score in EHS history in district competition with a 70 in 1977 and a 70 in sectional play in 1978. He garnered first team honors on the all Metro-East squad and was picked on the Southwestern Conference team.

Highland puts damper on Glen Carbon hopes

By KEVIN ALLEN

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Glen Carbon's American Legion baseball team left nothing to suspense in its 4-2 loss to Highland Thursday.

In a must-win situation Glen Carbon lost. And in so doing pretty much eliminated any chance, however slim, of reaching the District 22 North Division playoffs.

Highland's Jay Hoffman led off the inning with a base hit. Rick Schulte followed with single to center, which was mishandled by Glen Carbon's Larry Burns.

With runners at second and third, Faulkner retired the next two Highland batters. But after a walk to load the bases, Highland's Jay Rinderer delivered a line drive down the left field line scoring both Hoffman and Schulte.

But as happened so often in this season of disappointments, it was the final innings that spelled disaster for Glen Carbon.

Greg Faulkner, Glen Carbon's starting pitcher, carried the two run lead into the sixth. But after pitching five innings and allowing only two hits, The 30-plus temperature took its toll and Highland broke through for three hits and two runs to tie the score.

The Lighter Side

By Cathey Jamison
Press-Record Feature Editor

It never fails—but try not to panic

I tell you, it never fails. Whenever I simply MUST have a sitter for the kids, there is never one to be found.

It is a problem that falls under the category of "Why did I get up this morning?" Case in point: I was going that evening to cover a concert for the paper. I had lined up my regular sitter, or thought I had, earlier in the week.

At 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the concert, I called to check with my sitter, only to find that she had something else that she had to do. Three hours until concert time and I had no sitter!

After panic in these kinds of situations comes resolve. I decided NOT to panic; all would work out. I got on the phone.

There wasn't a person I knew, male or female, who was prepared or willing to keep my boys that evening.

It wasn't the kids' fault; they are really very nice little boys, especially with a favored sitter. My resolve returned to panic.

I spent a full half hour of company time trying to find a sitter. I called people I hadn't called in YEARS, I was that desperate. I didn't know what I would do if I didn't find someone.

What could I do? I couldn't then. It was time to their own devices, since many of my devices would become useless if handled by my youngsters. No, I was not ready to trust them on their own; too young. What then?

I thought about not picking them up from "Y" camp, but I might have come home wondering who had them. I don't think the "Y" is set up for abandoned children. That would not do.

I thought, but only for a fleeting second, of taking them with me. Every mother knows what it is like to take children along when one's energy and concentration must be on the task at hand. There was no way I was going to take them along. I have enough problems focusing a camera without having a kid trying to get into the picture. No, I had tried that before. No, thank you.

The panic turned to tears and I figured that I would just have to miss the assignment. I decided to go by my girlfriend's house on the way home, a last ditch attempt to get a sitter. She said yes! I couldn't believe it! I had had more rejection that day than I had ever had in my life, and she said yes!

See, I was right. If one resolves not to panic, everything turns out all right.

But it is the torture of the hunt that brings out the crazy in the mothers who are in search of a sitter. There is just no way NOT to panic.

Fund joint research by universities

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and several institutions of higher education in this area are included in inter-institutional grant programs approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE).

The allocations were approved by the IBHE in a meeting last week at SIU at Carbondale.

Funded by grants provided under the Higher Education Cooperation Act, the 19 allocations which were approved total $350,000 statewide.

The funds are appropriated in support of the establishment and operation of programs between public universities, community colleges and non-public institutions.

The programs involving SIUE and area institutions and the amounts allocated by the IBHE include: Cooperative Urban Project, SIUE and State Community College, to develop processes for inter-institutional cooperation in program development and implementation between SIUE's East St. Louis Community College and State Community College.

Activities anticipated include a program of research into and training in remedial-developmental problems, coordination of resource sharing and the development of recommendations for implementation of recent IBHE staff recommendations on duplication of services. Funded for $20,000, the proposed project had requested $44,570.

Continuation of the Metro East Institute of Lifetime Learning, SIUE, Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark Community College and State Community College. The Institute is an extension of the National Institute of Lifetime Learning founded by the American Association of Retired Persons and is an inter-institutional venture to meet the educational needs of senior citizens in this region. It was funded, for $8,000; the proposal had requested $9,914.

It provides support to continue the Administrative Internship Program; augment the Professional Development Program; broaden the Instruction and Course Evaluation Program and initiate Community College Cooperative Learning Resource Centers programing. The project was funded for $27,000; the CIC had requested $46,410.

Small Business Development Center Network, university of Illinois at Chicago Circle, SIUE, McKendree College and 12 other institutions, in cooperation with the U.S. Small Business Administration, to assist small businesses by delivering a variety of management, technical, procurement, and financial services in order to strengthen the Illinois economy, promote free enterprise, create jobs, and help small businesses remain solvent and profitable. Funded for $30,000, the project had requested $100,000.

Illinois State Theater Company, SIU, SIUE and 14 other institutions, to continue to send out a company of actors and technicians chosen from the best students in the departments associated with the project. It was funded for $20,000; the proposal had requested $28,000.

Four other proposals involving SIUE and area institutions were not recommended for funding by the IBHE.

They included: Joint Special and Vocational Education Planning for Personnel Preparation, Program Development, Research and Evaluation as Related to Secondary Aged Handicapped Youth, $13,074 requested; Illinois Census Data Cooperative, $82,570 requested; Curricular Patterns of Liberal Arts Students: Their Post-College Impact, $97,667 requested; and Computer-Based Instruction Awareness Project, $46,900 requested.

Satellite clinic for dental care

Project approval for renovation of the fourth floor of the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was granted Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees. The improvements will air-condition the fourth floor and remove approximately half of the space to permit establishment of a satellite dental clinic of the School of Dental Medicine.

University officials said the cost of the project has been estimated at $190,000, including equipment for the dental clinic.

Initially, the clinic will be equipped with six operator stations, including dental chairs and lights, instruments, laboratory equipment and other support equipment.

University officials said the clinic may be expanded in the future, depending on utilization of the facility.

dental needs identified through the clinic operation, and availability of funds. The action taken by the board authorizes the university's plant operations department to proceed with completion of plans, specifications and details of the project for future consideration by the board.

Originally, the School of Dental Medicine had discussed the possibility of establishing a satellite dental clinic in East St. Louis with the Metro East Health Services Council.

University officials said a decision was made to locate the clinic in the SIUE East St. Louis Center after it became apparent that the Metro East Council would not be able to provide a facility for the clinic.

David Lee Koenig, 30, Florissant, Mo., was arrested at 1:15 a.m. Friday when he was charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly attempting to gain entry to the home of Shirley Star in the 2700 block of Birch Avenue.

Area climate called suitable for peaches

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Adviser Home Grove peaches in Southern Illinois can be found on trees grown on the most favorable sites.

Usually, this means elevated locations, uniformly protected from extremely low temperatures. Thus, peaches can be found in the flat areas along the Mississippi and Illinois River valleys and in Southern Illinois.

The peach harvest here has begun with some of the early-maturing varieties. These include Early-Red-Frost Candor, Earl-glo and Harbinger.

Red Haven is coloring in Southern Illinois and will be ripe in southwestern Illinois around July 20-25. The other Haven and Elberta peaches will follow in sequence until the last of the season.

Home gardeners with barren peach trees this year should maintain their trees in good health and vigor for potential crops. This includes another borer spray in mid-July and watering if needed, and hopes that the next winter won't be as cold.

Gardeners can earn extra money and honor by exhibiting prize-winning vegetables at county and other fairs. They can also experience the challenge of competition and the friendship of other gardeners.

Before planning exhibits, get a copy of the fair book or premium list, so that available categories can be studied. There are usually variations between fairs, so read all the rules. Pay special attention to the time for entry as well as quantities and size specified for each display.

Vegetable in any display should be at their peak of maturity and quality at the time of judging. Sometimes it is difficult to have vegetables at the prime stage when the fair is held.

Crops that mature slightly early can sometimes be held by picking them slightly immature and placing them in good storage conditions for a day or two before fair time.

Other crops should be picked at optimum maturity and may require some refrigeration for best storage.

Immediately after harvest, vegetables such as tomato, pepper, beans, carrots, cucumber and cantaloupe should be refrigerated. But place them in the vegetable crisper or plastic bag to prevent dehydration.

Vegetables that have been kept cool should be brought out and warmed enough before judging so that they do not "sweat" before or during judging.

When selecting vegetables for exhibition, remember, there are several points a judge considers for all types of vegetables. These are quality, condition, uniformity and whether the entry is typical of its variety.

Quality refers to the best and prime eating condition of any vegetable. Quality also means the best color, development, shape, texture and size.

The largest size does not necessarily mean the best quality and therefore does not guarantee a prize.

Condition also is important. It is an indication of how the crop has been handled and grown.

Crops should be free of dirt, cuts and bruises, as well as insect or disease damage. They should be free of any wax and residues of treatments that may have been used for insect or disease control.

Uniformity is an important consideration in judging.

Each specimen on a plate and each vegetable within a display should be of similar size, color, maturity and shape. The ability to produce a uniform crop is a measure of cultural ability.

Additional information on displaying vegetables is included in University of Illinois Circular 1150, "Vegetable Gardening in Illinois." This publication is for sale at County Extension Service offices or the Office of Agricultural Publications, 123 Mumford Hall, Urbana 61801.

Final week to buy truck license plates

Alan J. Dixon has reminded Illinois motorists that new 1979-80 fiscal year license plates for second division vehicles must be displayed by midnight Saturday, July 21.

Dixon extended the legal deadline of June 30 by three weeks to give farmers and truckers additional time to purchase plates. However, he stressed that this will be the last year a deadline may be extended for either passenger vehicles or fiscal year plates.

"We are also providing an extra service plate purchasers," he said. "Our three motor vehicle facilities in Chicago will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and in Springfield from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and in the public service center at the Centennial Building and Dirksen Parkway facility drive-in window from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and in the public service center at the Centennial Building and Dirksen Parkway facility drive-in window from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m."

Normally, these facilities are closed on Saturday. They will be limited to sale of second division plates. These include trucks, semi-trailers, trailers, farm trucks and tractors.

In addition to Secretary of State facilities, many financial institutions will sell truck and trailer plates over the counter until the deadline, he added.

Zoning hearings Thursday

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold three on-site public hearings in Quad-City area townships Thursday.

The first hearing will be at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at 490 Carl St., Hills Terrace Annex of Chouteau Township, where Margaret Wright and Clifford Wilkerson are requesting a special use permit to place a mobile home for a permanent residence.

At 10:05 a.m. Thursday, the board will meet north of Sun 'N Fun Beach Resort on Chain of Rocks Road in Mitchell where Richard Elledge is requesting a special use permit and a variance to construct a 28 by 30 foot Astro building for personal storage. The property is in an M-2 general manufacturing district of Chouteau Township and is located on Thorngate Drive about one-fourth of a mile north of West Chain of Rocks Road.

At 10:35 a.m. Thursday the board will meet on Chouteau Island where Richard and Clifford Wilkerson and Dawn Wallace are requesting a special use permit and a variance to place a mobile home for a watchman or caretaker in a flood hazard area. The property may be reached by crossing the Chain of Rocks Canal Bridge onto the island, turning on the first paved road to the left, going through the slough and continuing to the property, where signs will be posted.

After the hearings, the zoning board will reconvene in the county courthouse at Edwardsville to prepare its recommendations on the requests. The Madison County Board will be asked at its August meeting to act on the recommendations.

Off-color evergreens

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT

Area Horticulture Adviser

Red spiders can suddenly produce a sickly green appearance on Junipers, Spruces, and Japanese yews.

An unhealthy color and poor growth are common symptoms of red spiders.

New growth will be somewhat stunted while the needles are light colored and begin to thin out. Needle drop is common.

Red spiders are hard to see unless you use a magnifying glass or shake them onto a piece of white paper. Hold a large piece of white paper under the limb and sharply tap the limb with a stick. The mites will fall on the paper and start to scurry around.

If you have to bruise up the whole shrub to find a few, then mites are not the problem. When you find several from each limb control is important.

Control is simple if you use dicofol (Kelthane) according to Injuring aged may become a felony

The executive committee of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal's Senior Legislative Forum is urging Governor James R. Thompson to sign eight major bills which committee members say would benefit the elderly and disabled.

The legislation, passed by the 81st General Assembly, has received bipartisan support and sponsorship, and deals with raising home reform, tax relief, crimes against the elderly, and unnecessary institutionalization," a spokesman said.

The Forum, whose membership includes representatives of over 300 senior citizen organizations throughout the state, sent its recommendations to O'Neal for delivery to the governor.

After reviewing over 100 bills, the Forum's executive committee also sent a resolution to Thompson and O'Neal recommending further action be taken next spring on nine other pieces of legislation which were retained by the General Assembly.

Key bills which passed, and that the executive committee wants signed into law are:

SB 309 and 316, sponsored by Sen. Richard Daley, Chicago, creating the Nursing Home Reform Care Act of 1979.

HB 2594, sponsored by Rep. Woods Bowman, Chicago, exempting food and prescription medicine from sales use and service occupation taxes.

SB 198, sponsored by Sen. Adelle Geo-Karis, of Zion, and Sen. John Merlo, of Chicago, making it aggravated battery to cause "bodily harm to or make insulting physical contact with a person aged 60 or over."

HB 961, sponsored by Rep. Josephine Obinger, of Sherman, transferring primary responsibility for the program of services to prevent premature or unnecessary institutionalization of persons in need of long-term care from the Department of Public Aid to the Department on Aging.

Other legislation the forum wants approved by the governor are HB 941, dealing with medical services; HB 1394, amending the Downstate Teachers Retirement Article; and HB 2500, revising the Crime Victims Compensation Act.

The other nine bills the executive committee targeted for future action were stalled in this year's legislative session. However, the committee recommended to Thompson and O'Neal that efforts to pass these measures remain alive and that they be acted upon during the spring legislative session.

They are: HB 188 and SB 140, providing more tax relief for senior citizens and the disabled under the Circuit Breaker program; HB 569 and 1408, concerning the Homestead Exemption; HB 201 and 191, pertaining to training programs for nursing home employees and nurse aides.

HB 1937, creating the Adult Abuse Act; HB 1183, amending the Reduced Transit Fare Act for the Elderly; and HB 1265 and 1266, placing certain regulations on the practice of dental medicine.

Members of the executive committee are Connie Maris, Rockford; Aden Wilson, Glen Ellyn; Rev. Nels Bengtson, Galesburg; Louis R. McDonald, Peoria; Nelli Hays, Champaign; Earl D. Meyers, Quincy; Don Berry, Pana; Virgil L. Calvert, East St. Louis; Hilmer S. Cottingham, Salem; Troy S. Alexander, Norris City; Robert K. Gustafson, Carterville; and Mary Voss, Chicago.

'Y' day camp

There's a lot of splashing and stuff going on, but that's just a part of the special things that the youngsters attending the day camp have an opportunity to do.

There are activities planned for each day of the two week sessions, which will continue through about the middle of August. Lucy Tueth, Tri-City Area YMCA program director and very brave lady, has taken on the task of seeing to it that the young campers, average age about 8 years, have a good time.

Helping her are counselors Doug Rains, Sue Range, Dianne Flynn and Tina Taylor.

The kids develop a friendly relationship with their counselors, fortunately for the counselors. The youngsters are mindful of the rules and thereby enjoy a safe, happy time at day camp.

Fridays are for going places. Last week, the group toured the St. Louis Zoo.

Another group toured Grant's Farm.

For the youngsters, many of whom had never visited these places, it is a special time indeed.

The campers go to Horseshoe Lake State Park a couple of times a week, enjoying the fishing and the great beauty of the park. Lunches are brought from home, with drinks being provided by the "Y."

On the last day of camp the kids have a campout at the "Y," spending the evening laying in the arcade and swimming in the YMCA pool. Then they take to their makeshift beds in one of the big rooms and pretend to sleep. It is the biggest PJ party in town.

The cost of the day camp is low and working parents can drop their youngsters off before they go to work and pick them up on the way home. It is one alternative for the working mother that makes sense.

The kids in the "Y" summer day camp are really enjoying a fun-filled vacation. And their parents can rest assured that the youngsters are being well supervised in all of their activities.

Public ready to sacrifice for good of nation, but the fuel supply remedy may not be more federal bureaus

Patriotism is still alive and well in the hearts of Americans, and there is considerable favorable response to last night's call by President Jimmy Carter for citizens to sacrifice on their oil usage and convenience as a means of restoring confidence in themselves and their nation.

Certainly, sacrifice is inevitable with the president's announced intention to limit yearly oil imports to the 1977 level.

The cost of the "energy war" to the average citizen was not spelled out by Mr. Carter, who promised to present more details in talks at Kansas City today and Detroit tonight. He did give some specifics, and he promised to be more effective in cutting "red tape" on new refineries and pipelines. But he avoided any mention of nuclear power.

The nationally televised address was full of motivating "North words," a favorite technique of a potential rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, California Governor Jerry Brown. The latter, incidentally, said afterward that Pres. Carter should have called for a "North American common market" utilizing Canadian and Mexican oil and U.S. technology.

The president asserted, "Every gallon of oil each one of us saves is a new form of production. It gives us more freedom, more confidence, and more control over our own lives so that the solution of our energy crisis can also help us to conquer the crisis of the spirit in our country."

"It can rekindle our sense of unity, our confidence in the future, and give our nation and all of us individually a new sense of purpose."

Mr. Carter stressed, "There are two paths to choose. One is a path I've warned about tonight, the path that leads to fragmentation and self-interest. Down that road lies a mistaken idea of freedom: the right to grasp for ourselves some advantage over others. That path would be one of constant conflict between narrow interests, ending in chaos and immobility. It is a certain route to failure."

"All the traditions of our past, all the lessons of our heritage, all the promises of our future point to another path, the path of common purpose and the restoration of American values. That path leads to true freedom for our nation and ourselves."

"We can take the first steps down that path as we begin to solve our energy problems. Energy will be the immediate test of our ability to unite this nation, and it can also be the standard around which we rally. On the battlefield of energy, we can win for our nation a new confidence, and we can seize control again of our common destiny."

A key test of the president's ability to lead the nation on the battlefield he has described will be whether he combines the idealistic appeal with practical plans and actions.

His call for standby gasoline rationing, however, seems to be a step in precisely the wrong direction, since it envisions a costly, unworkable new bureaucracy that might divert attention from energy development and other important tasks.

While he repeatedly used words like "freedom" in referring to his proposals, it should be kept in mind that just the opposite of freedom would result from many of the proposed laws and policies. And his attack on "red tape" is harder to accept at a time when it is noted that his office by itself could defeat much of the cumbersome procedural delay that he instead prefers creating new boards and agencies to cope with.

Mr. Carter wants to encourage utilities to generate electrical power from coal, but fails to say it is Uncle Sam who has discouraged such use of coal. He favors production of synthetic fuels without acknowledging the mammoth cost.

He backs converting coal into other fuels but doesn't refer to the games bureaucrats have been playing with their stop-and-start rulings on various coal gasification projects. And he makes only brief references to federal inefficiency which too often, as in the case of fuel distribution quotas, has been the problem rather than the solution.

Undoubtedly, Americans have it within their power to bring the energy crisis into more manageable dimensions, their strong belief this spring and summer to small autos indicates their realization of the need to reduce their reliance on ever-costlier foreign oil.

But development of known and alternate fuels must be given major emphasis along with conservation, as Illinois Governor Jim Thompson said last week, a policy of "frying in the summer and freezing in the winter" isn't sufficient.

There are answers and, God willing, our present will help lead us toward them. But in many instances, the best route may not be a governmental remedy, with more bureaus formed, but rather less government and greater reliance on the marketplace and good old American ingenuity.

There has been so much varied research to find a cancer cure in the last fifty years, but anything that seems to show promise is shoved aside instead of doing some serious investigating (hydrazine sulfate, Carcalon, Krebiozen, coenzyme Q, BCG vaccine, Hoxsey therapy, Gerson therapy).

Instead, medical doctors continue to use megavolt irradiation and chemotherapy drugs which repress the body's immune system.

Here is FDA: CITOXAN: Bone marrow depression, nausea and vomiting, loss of hair, pulmonary fibrosis, fatal hemorrhagic cystitis, hemorrhagic colitis, gonadal suppression; ACTINOMYCIN-D: Bone marrow depression, nausea and their competitive position in the world economy with respect to both unit cost and quality.

8. Development of energy policies which rely primarily on the free market to provide sufficient resources for supporting future economic growth.

9. Take those additional policy measures necessary to restore stability to the value of the dollar.

10. Preservation of the free market system as the source of national economic initiative and efficiency, while avoiding any form of government determination of wages and prices.

We are beyond the time for debate as to whether government policies, or private sector wage-policies, have been primarily responsible for the present inflation.

Each has reflected the social and political pressures of a public which has been asking for more than it can afford, and which has often made decisions on the assumption that inflation will continue forever.

We all must now begin to live within our means — both in the political sector, of the economy and in the business-labor sector.

We must cooperate in learning how various expectations of both the public and private sectors may best be modified if the present, in order to lay the foundation for their realization more broadly in the future.

Eyes of nation on Friday's Ashford-Simpson concert

The Mississippi River Festival on the SIUE campus has announced that the Friday, July 20, performance by Ashford and Simpson will be telecast nationally on PBS (Public Broadcasting System) as a part of the "Summerfest '79" series.

Nicholas Ashford and Valerie Simpson are best known as rhythm and blues songwriters and producers, later emerging into the performing arena.

The premiere program was taped at Wolf Trap Farm Park near Washington

Tickets for the July 20 concert are $8.50 for reserved seats and $6 for lawn.

MOVIE SCAN Short takes on new films

"THE IN-LAWS" (PG) — "The In-Laws" will never be charged with subtlety or sophistication, but it is darn good slapstick comedy. The story deals mostly with two fathers. One is played by Peter Falk, a CIA agent and father of the bride-to-be. Alan Arkin plays a stuffy, middle-class dentist, father of the potential bridegroom. There is an animosity between the two. However, Peter Falk robs the U.S. Treasury of some engraving plates, and he involves the other father in a plot designed to crush a plot to destroy the world's economy.

Nancy Dussault and Arlene Golonka play the roles of wives, Michael Lembeck and Penny Peyser as the betrothed and David Paymer as the typical New York cable, who is undaunted by anything as mundane as a gunfight around his cab. You will come away laughing on this one.

"BUTCH SUNDANCE" (G) — AND Robert Redford and Paul Newman, featured in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," were over-killed by hundreds of Bolivian soldiers. Therefore, there was no chance for a second movie, or sequel.

Therefore, the EARLY DAYS of the two are featured in this playful pop picture, which is a jest of the West and a jest of Victor.

In the near future. Again I thank you for your participation in this course and for the coverage you have so often given to our activities at SIUE in the area of death and dying.

Inflation must be, can be, solved

To the Editor:

The social, economic and political consequences of failing to bring inflation under control will be disastrous for our country and the entire free world. Inflation must first be controlled and then reduced.

The process will be difficult and painful task. It must be a long-term national undertaking.

Our primary national economic need is to achieve a broadly supported consensus on methods for dealing with the problem. In declaring that it will give the highest priority to inflation, the administration has taken an important first step.

An effective anti-inflation program must include the following features:

1. An unqualified commitment by government to achieving a balanced budget. We must not allow anything to deter the administration from its stated goal of a balanced budget in fiscal year 1981. Budget balance at the state and local levels must also be maintained.

2. Government spending policies and practices which will, over the years, reduce the proportion of national output which is pre-empted by government — federal, state and local.

3. A revision of tax policies which reduces the present tax burden on both personal and business incomes, and which moderates the barriers to saving, capital formation and business investment in the existing tax system. This should be done at all levels of government. High levels of business investment will be essential for the increased productive capacity and efficiency which can help to contain future inflation.

4. Adherence to a monetary policy which provides sufficient money for conducting the nation's transactions but does not encourage, irresponsible wage-price behavior. Also, monetary policy should not be expected to provide automatically the additional credit for financing government deficit.

5. Application of the same disciplines, as are to be applied to the costs imposed on the economy by government regulation.

It should be stressed that the costs, both direct and indirect, of government imposed regulation and compliance therewith have become an increasing burden on our economy and contribute significantly to inflationary pressures.

6. Make effective a trade policy that copes with opposition to all forms of interventionism — whether by our own government or by others which adversely affect the free and fair flow of goods between nations, with (b) a resolve to counter any consequences of external interventionism which are harmful to our own economy.

7. Proceed with domestic policies that will enable U.S. business firms to improve their competitive position in the world economy with respect to both unit cost and quality.

8. Development of energy policies which rely primarily on the free market to provide sufficient resources for supporting future economic growth.

9. Take those additional policy measures necessary to restore stability to the value of the dollar.

10. Preservation of the free market system as the source of national economic initiative and efficiency, while avoiding any form of government determination of wages and prices.

make the mess less.

There have to be good reasons why more in-sink-erator disposers are sold and installed every year than any other model.

Our grinding ring, for example, is the strongest made. It's the core of our disposers along with our ISO-made electric motor.

Then we add the extra things. A heavy polypropylene shield protects against interior corrosion. Automatic reversing action eases the life of the grinding elements.

So ask for In-Sink-Erator next time you make your mess. We make our disposers do more.

Sealed Bid Notice Sealed Bids will be accepted in the office of the Village Clerk, 3939 Lake Drive, Ponton Beach, Illinois, until Tuesday, July 24, 1979 at 3:00 p.m. for the purchase of Unleaded Gasoline for three (3) Police Vehicles. The Village of Ponton Beach reserves the right to accept and/or reject any and/or all bids.

MARY E. WARREN, Village Clerk, No. 42 347 16

News notes Governor James Thompson vetoed on Friday a bill that would have ended the sales tax on food and drugs, saying it would undermine the basic state programs. House Speaker William Redmond then predicted the veto will be overridden, noting that the bill had passed 100-43 and 37-12.

Disguising their speed control efforts, state police will sit in road maintenance trucks, on highway grass mowers and in tractor-trailers, it was announced Friday. They will clock speeding vehicles, and patrol cruisers ahead of them will stop the drivers.

Fifteen officers, including 12 deputies, patrolled a River Festival crowd of 12,000 Friday night at a concert by the Dobbie Brothers.

Transportation Director John Kramer and railroad officials say Pres. Carter's plan for a uniform truck weight limit of 81,000 pounds would destroy highways and jeopardize safety.

The body of Mrs. Esther Seymeyer, 84, Route 4, Edwardsville, was found Friday in her ransacked home. She had been slain (shot in the head). Mrs. Louvie Brown, 73, Alton, was found in the basement of her home Thursday, stabbed to death.

Shot with pellet gun

Fifteen-year-old Terry Waelterman, State Park Place, went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 11:12 p.m. Sunday, suffering from a pellet gun wound to his head and small scratches to his forehead. He was admitted and was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Circumstances surrounding the incident are uncertain, according to state police, who are investigating the shooting, which occurred about 10:30 p.m. on Fairmont Avenue in State Park. A state trooper said Waelterman sped away in a car as the trooper arrived and was chased at speeds reaching nearly 100 miles per hour through State Park until Waelterman's auto went out of control and overturned several times.

It then was discovered that the driver had been shot. The Division of Criminal Investigations (DCI) is in charge of the investigation. No charges had been filed today.

MINUTE BY MINUTE '79 TOUR. The weather threatened. The wind blew and the lightning flashed and near the end 12,000 plus Dobbie Brothers fans got wet, for the third year in a row, Friday night at the Mississippi River Festival. Seems that Dobbies plus MRF equals rain. Patrick Simmons, above, didn't mind the lightning flashing, and neither did the crowd... nobody left.

Cyclist faces ten charges

David P. Krause, 19, of 4010 Braden Ave., lot 31, faces 10 traffic charges after police alleged chasing his motorcycle from Nameoki Road near Kirkpatrick Homes, to the 2800 block of Palm Avenue at 9:55 p.m. Sunday.

It also is alleged Krause was involved in a car-motorcycle accident 50 minutes earlier and left the scene without giving his name or other information.

Police were told the auto of Michael Cathern, 2900 Sunset Drive, was on St. Clair Avenue at National Avenue at 9:55 p.m. when a bicyclist crossed into the wrong lanes, violated the stop sign, struck the side of the car, which had come to a stop, and the cycle continued east in the westbound lanes of St. Clair Avenue.

The cyclist returned to the accident scene a few minutes later, but again left without giving his name, according to Cathern.

Fifteen officers, including 12 deputies, patrolled a River Festival crowd of 12,000 Friday night at a concert by the Dobbie Brothers.

Transportation Director John Kramer and railroad officials say Pres. Carter's plan for a uniform truck weight limit of 81,000 pounds would destroy highways and jeopardize safety.

Solar energy emphasized—when else?—during summer

Activities promoting solar energy this summer have been announced by the Solar Energy Program of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources (INR).

INR's solar efforts this summer will be focused on a Solar Speakers and Consultants Bureau, Solar Water Heater Design competition and solar displays at the Illinois State Fair. The Solar Energy Program also is publishing the Illinois Solar Directory.

The Solar Speakers and Consultants Bureau is designed to increase public understanding and awareness of solar energy. The bureau is composed of 50 speakers and consultants representing Illinois solar business, agriculture, research, education, finance and government, as well as successful do-it-yourselfers.

'College Bowl' returning to air

"College Bowl," a popular television program of the 1960s, will return to the air this fall on the CBS radio network, and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale will be among 16 universities sending teams to the 1979 national championships in Miami Beach. Originally the national championships were scheduled for June, but they were postponed to Oct. 6 and 7 when more students would be in school, according to a spokesman at KMOX, the CBS-owned station in St. Louis.

The SIUC team was selected for participation in the tournament as the national at-large entry after losing to Notre Dame by only a few points in regional competition sponsored last spring by the Association of College Unions-International. The other 15 schools will be representing specific regions.

Art Fleming, former emcee of "Jeopardy," one of the longest running quiz shows on television, will host the new half-hour weekly radio broadcasts of "College Bowl." In addition to this fall's national championship, the network plans to broadcast regular season competition for the 1979-80 academic year and international championship matches.

"College Bowl" was originally broadcast on NBC radio from 1953 to 1957 and then appeared on television from 1959 to 1970, first on CBS and then on NBC. Among its numerous awards are both an Emmy and a Peabody.

CLARINET TAKEN

A $100 clarinet belonging to the band of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was stolen from the auto of Cathy Butler, 2255 Monroe St., last week. She said a window of her car was forced down. The clarinet has identification numbers stamped on it and is in a case with "SIU band" written on it.

FIND STOLEN CYCLE

A motorcycle stolen from the unlocked garage at the home of Robert Schauss, 2450 Benton St., last week, was located later beside a burned and vacant house in the 2600 block of East 25th St.

Speakers in the bureau will be able to address a variety of topics ranging from greenhouses and food dryers to cutting home fuel bills.

The Solar Water Heater Competition and educational displays, located on more than an acre of land during the State Fair, will illustrate the potential of solar design in the area of domestic water heating.

According to INR project coordinator Patti Donahue, "We hope visitors will take home solar energy ideas they can develop on their own. We'll also supply information about commercial systems available today."

The Solar Directory, to be released by fall, will contain lists and descriptions of solar installations and operating systems throughout Illinois. The INR Solar Energy Program participates in the Mid-American Solar Energy Complex (MASEC), a 12-state consortium which promotes the use of solar energy.

Steelworkers join in urging signing of replacement tax

The Illinois Political Education Committee of the United Steelworkers of America has been mobilizing the leadership among its nearly 80,000 members across the state to use their influence to urge Governor James R. Thompson to sign House Bill 2569 — the legislative bill passed to replace the corporate personal property tax.

Carl Alessi, Illinois legislative director for the Steelworkers union, says hundreds of communications have been sent out to local union leaders to contact Gov. Thompson and urge him to sign the legislation. "This is crucial to all working people in the state," he said, "because it represents vital revenue for school districts and local governments."

"If the governor should follow through on his public statement to veto the legislation, the burden for the school and local government funding will likely result in real estate tax increases of as much as fifty percent for all home owners."

James E. Kelahan, of Granite City, Steelworkers legislative coordinator for the southern half of Illinois, says that the Steelworkers union has joined with 30 other organizations on the Committee for Fair Corporate Tax Replacement to show the governor there is widespread support for his signature on the replacement tax legislation. Kelahan said Alessi and other members of the committee met with Gov. Thompson on Friday to discuss the issue.

Kelahan has pointed out to United Steelworkers members that "the replacement tax plan is only meant to replace the defunct corporate personal property tax law."

"Illinois now stands 44th in the nation on corporate income tax rates. The difference with this new proposal only amounts to $8.50 of tax for every $1,000 of corporate profits, which gives business no reason to complain."

"Regarding another bill passed by the legislature to eliminate the sales tax on food and drugs," Kelahan said, "the Steelworkers union has been fighting to remove this regressive tax for more than 20 years."

"The sales tax puts the burden of financing local government squarely on the backs of those least able to afford it."

"The United Steelworkers Illinois Political Education Committee wants its members and everyone to also urge Gov. Thompson to sign the sales tax elimination proposal, known as HB 2564."
